ANNUAL WINTER CLINIC

LUNCHEON SPEAKER:

DR. RUSSELL A. WILLIAMS

Miami, Florida

Dr. Williams comes to us with a record of public service seldom equalled by anyone. He is an author of Philosophic subjects, Instructor of Astronomy, (University of Miami), and currently appears on radio and television. Also, he is an extremely popular speaker from coast to coast, and an authority on International Affairs and Public Relations.

Your committee presents Dr. Williams as one of our own graduates of the Royal College of Dental Surgeons in the '1923' class. However, his exceptional talents directed his activities into other channels. He has resided in Florida since 1925. In 1948, he was listed in "Who's Who" in America, received a Presidential citation for civilian service to the war effort. He is a past Grand Orator of Masonry. Other accomplishments are legion.

Enlisting in 1915 as a private, he was discharged after serving as a Brigade Commander in 1919. Throughout his college career he was interested in athletics, debating and class executive work.

We may anticipate a brilliant, dynamic and inspirational address from Dr. Williams, who will be so well remembered as "Russ" by his age group. He is happy to have this opportunity to renew old acquaintances. Be at the Winter Clinic to welcome him on Thursday, November 25th, 1954.

"SPEECH—AND THE DENTIST"

By C. W. WRIGHT

The ability to speak well in public is a skill which every professional man should make at least a modest effort to acquire.

It is true, of course, that the possession of a degree is tangible evidence of an acquired proficiency, and that every dentist has this degree and this skill.

However, it is also true that the personal satisfaction that accrues to the individual able to express his thoughts to a group is, in itself, ample compensation for the effort expended to acquire the skill.

The really successful dentist should be able to address a group, and for several valid reasons.

One. No more effective means of introducing himself to a community could be so readily devised.

To speak before a service club; before a home and school association; a high school assembly or a local municipal gathering will serve as a fast and impressive introduction to any community.

These immediate and desirable results will follow, of course, only if the talk is well delivered!

Two. The dentist becomes an integral part of his community. This is an important consideration for the thoughtful professional man. With the advantages of a good education and an established position in the eyes of the world, the responsible dentist will look for ways to share these advantages with others. Speech will open those avenues.

Three. Dentistry must be taught to others. Not only must new dentists be taught, but the public must be kept constantly abreast of new developments and new techniques.

Many dentists seek "New fields to conquer" in these areas of instruction, and, in so doing, make an interesting discovery. They learn, and sometimes with embarrassment, that to possess knowledge is one thing, to impart it is something entirely different!

Effective speech is the medium of communication here, and the clinician will quickly discover how much his ultimate success depends upon it.

The personal satisfaction; the advertising value; the good public relations possible; a steady advancement within the profession itself; these, then, are the direct advantages one might expect from a reasonable skill in the field of better public speaking.

In Toronto, the need for some such training has been recognized, and some practical steps taken to do something about it.

The Academy of Dentistry, Toronto, last year sponsored a course in Effective Speaking. The course was fully subscribed; an exceptionally high level of attendance maintained and considerable progress was experienced by all participants. It was especially interesting to note the steady improvement made by the younger members of the group. Their increased confidence on the platform and their improved skill in preparing and delivering a talk each week, were sources of tremendous satisfaction to student and instructor alike.

May we hasten to say that this is not a criticism of other members of the class. They, too, embraced new ideas, and experimented with new techniques with an open mindedness that was indeed gratifying.

The Academy of Dentistry will again offer a course in speech training. The class will commence early this Fall, and precisely the same training methods will apply.

Here is an opportunity for the dentist to join a group of his own; to participate in a friendly and cooperative atmosphere; to tackle this problem of thinking on one's feet and to enjoy the maximum instruction with a minimum of class room atmosphere.

Dr. Butler, the committee chairman, may be reached at WALnut 1-1412 and will be happy to supply essential details.

Remember, "A journey of a thousand miles begins with the first step." Your first step is as close as your telephone.

DENTAL PUBLIC HEALTH

The Dental Public Health Committee has tried this season to carry on past endeavours and to still more firmly educate the public along health measures.

Another task your committee has undertaken is to form a Public Speaking course for the benefit of the members of the Academy.

We welcome and extend our complete co-operation to Dr. F. H. Compton, the new Director of the Dental Services for the city of Toronto.

Also, the "Workshop Plan" as originated in Tennessee is being studied and recommendations will be made.

Any enquiries as to any of these phases of Dental Public Health will be welcomed.

FIRST STATED MEETING

THURSDAY, JANUARY 20, 1955

DENTAL-MEDICAL NIGHT

Essayist: HANS SELYE, M.D., Ph.D., D.Sc., F.R.S.(C).

Subject—The Role of Stress in Dental Medicine

In this lecture, the speaker will attempt to give an interpretation of those aspects of the alarm reaction and the general adaptation syndrome concepts, which are of special interest in dental medicine.

It is evident that resistance to stress and strain is greatly influenced by adaptive reactions and adaptive hormones. Numerous lantern slides will illustrate experiments showing how stress and the adaptive hormones can effect, for instance, the processes of inflammation and wound healing, which are so important in everyday dental medicine.

Experiments concerning the resistance of the oral mucosa to traumatic injury, as influenced by hormonal means, will be illustrated by photographs and micro-photographs.

Finally, the speaker will give a general summary of his lecture with special reference to its meaning for the dental surgeon.

“One of the most honoured men in medicine”—Dr. Selye has become internationally known as “the world’s outstanding expert on the endocrine glands.” His research discoveries on the problem of stress have impressed the entire medical world.

Dr. Selye was born in Vienna, Austria. He both studied and taught in many famous Universities in Europe and also on this Continent. His accomplishments are outstanding—being the author of more than 500 scientific papers and several text books. He enjoys membership in numerous medical associations in Europe, South America, United States and Canada.

Dr. Selye is a professor and the Director of the Institute of Experimental Medicine and Surgery at the University of Montreal.

THE PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE TO THE ACADEMY

Again the officers and committees of the Academy of Dentistry of Toronto have launched another interesting and stimulating programme for its members for the coming year.

As one who is in a position to enjoy all the benefits of these programmes from year to year, it is a most pleasant privilege for me to bring to you the best wishes of the Canadian Dental Association.

So many of the members of the Academy have served so faithfully, in so many ways, and in so many of the organized aspects of our profession, that it is always a matter of great pride as their achievements are observed. Congratulations on the successes that repeatedly come to your organization. Good luck and best wishes in all your efforts for the future.

P. G. ANDERSON,

SECOND STATED MEETING

OSLER HALL

8:15 P.M.

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 17, 1955

Essayist: S. CHARLES BRECKER, D.D.S.

Subject: "Approachable Methods in Mouth Rehabilitation"

This lecture will present a new approach to crown and bridge prosthesis in a simplified form to benefit the average practitioner. Dr. Brecker will combine esthetics and occlusal function, correlating the porcelain jacket crown and porcelain bridgework in extensive cases of reconstruction. A definite treatment plan of cases which can be executed successfully will be introduced showing the cases from start to completion. Illustrated by practical case reports, the lecturer will present those cases which should be left alone.

S. Charles Brecker, D.D.S., graduate of the University of Pennsylvania, 1926; former Assistant Professor, New York University Dental College and Post-Graduate teacher in crown and bridge of Georgetown University; Member of the American Denture Society; President of the Prosthodontic Section of the First District Dental Society; International lecturer and author of the book, "The Porcelain Jacket Crown."

BLUE CROSS PLAN FOR HOSPITAL CARE

In 1944, a group was formed by the Academy of Dentistry for Fellows who wished to subscribe to the Blue Cross Plan for Hospital Care.

Early in 1954, the Blue Cross announced that members of the Academy Group would, beginning July 1st, 1954, be transferred from group to individual membership, and members would, henceforth, pay their premiums direct to the Blue Cross offices at 135 St. Clair Avenue, West.

The Academy Group has now been disbanded, and members enrolled in the Plan for Hospital Care will, in future, receive their payment notices directly from the Blue Cross. Fellows of the Academy will therefore remit their payments, quarterly, to Blue Cross. No further notices will be sent out by the Academy of Dentistry.

It has been a privilege to serve the Academy throughout the past ten years, as Chairman of the Blue Cross Group.

P.S.—Since writing the above report, notice has been received from the Canadian Dental Association of the contract now being formulated to permit all members of the dental profession in Canada, under the aegis of the National Association, to participate in a Blue Cross Group Plan for Hospital Care.

This plan will be opened to members of the profession this fall, and will provide increased benefits for participating members.

Notice of the opening of the plan will be sent by the Canadian Dental Association to all dentists in Canada, and transfer to the national group may then be arranged. Meanwhile, the procedure outlined in the report above should be followed by Fellows of the Academy now holding membership in the Blue Cross.

Every dentist will be interested in the generous contract to be offered under the national group.

The Telephone Extension Course from the College of Dentistry, of the University of Illinois for 1954-55 is to be sponsored by the Toronto Alpha Omega Alumni with the good wishes of the Academy of Dentistry. All dentists in the Toronto Area are invited to take this course but are advised to enroll early. Enquiries and applications will be welcomed by the chairman, Dr. John E. Ackerman, 168 Dundas St. West, EM. 4-8582.

The Telephone Course of 1953-54 was sponsored for Toronto by the Dental Department of the new Mount Sinai Hospital, and was well attended. An experimental deviation in presentation was tried through tape recordings synchronized with film strip projections as compared with earlier "live" telephone programs. However, for 1954-55 the program will be another deviation in that the "live" telephone panel discussions will be used but augmented by strip films projected for illustrations. Illustrated manuals will be given to each registered member.

REPORT OF THE SECRETARY, 1953-1954

With increased enthusiasm, improved attendance, and the largest paid membership on record, the Academy activities for 1953-54 under the capable leadership of Dr. E. J. Henderson as President, have been very successful.

Nine full Executive Council meetings were held to arrange for the routine affairs of the Academy, as well as many sub-committee meetings to look after special assignments.

It is with deep regret that we announce the retirement of Dr. Charles McLean from the Council after eleven years' service as Chairman of Blue Cross. Under new arrangements, future payments will be made directly to the Blue Cross offices.

The annual dinner held at the Royal York Hotel was well-attended. Mr. Frederick Gardiner, Chairman of the Municipality of Metropolitan Toronto, our speaker, gave us much timely and worthwhile information about our City.

Our three stated meetings in the new Osler Hall were increasingly popular. Essayists were Dr. DeVan of the University of Pennsylvania, Dr. Wallace Graham and Dr. W. K. Shultis, both of Toronto. Our dental-medical meeting with Dr. Graham as the speaker, attracted many of our friends of the medical profession.

The Winter Clinic, convened by our President-Elect, Dr. W. James Smith, provided a full day of splendid Group Clinics, fellowship at luncheon, entertainment at dinner, with near capacity attendance at all these features. The Table Clinics in the evening kept all interested until 10.00 p.m. Out-of-town membership was very gratifying.

The Academy of Dentistry Award to the Faculty of Dentistry was won by Dr. Ian Urquhart MacIntosh.

J. BEVAN KING.
